NASC
500 Purdy Hill Road, Ste. 4
Monroe, CT 06468

To Whom It May Concern:

A few months ago, a representative from NASC stopped by our small manufacturing facility in rural eastern Connecticut. He introduced himself as someone who could provide an easy, risk-free service in that manufacturers are often overcharged for the delivery of electricity and/or gas due to billing errors on their utility bills. Since there was nothing to lose and he provided examples of other manufacturers that he had helped, we took a few minutes to provide the information he required. I'm glad we did.

NASC successfully secured nice refunds on our electric bills: more important, they worked with the utility company to correct the structural billing errors which led to the refund. This resulted in our future expenses being measurably reduced. This was especially appreciated because NASC only gets a percentage of the refunds obtained, so we enjoy the future reductions as a 'bonus' for engaging in this process.

I highly recommend that any small manufacturer invest just a few minutes for this important 'gut check' to ensure they aren't overpaying and leaving money on the table.

Sincerely-
